

Ajax Lost and Found.

That's right, pal.

Who's Fred?

You're Ed, and you're looking for Fred?

Well, what's he look like, Ed, this Fred?

What does Fred look like, Ed?

Who's Red?

I thought you were Fred's brother, Ed.

No, Ed.

That's right, Ed.

You've got me going out of my head. Let's get some more information here. What's your full name?

And your brothers are Red Head—

Ajax Lost and Found?

Have you seen Fred?

He's my brother. I'm Ed.

That's what I said.

Hah?

Like Red.

He's Fred's brother.

I am. Fred's got two brothers:
Red and Ed. I'm Ed. You seen Fred?

You mean no Fred?

That's what I said.

Ed. Ed Head.

—And Fred Head.

And your father?

Ted Head.

All right, you're Ed Head, your brothers are Fred Head and Red Head, and your father is Ted Head.

Well, when did you last see Fred, Ed?

When did you last see Fred, Ed?

Fred was in bed, is that what you said?

And now he's not in bed?

Well, where is Red?

I said, where is Red, Ed?

Red's in bed, is that what you said?

Well, are you sure it's Red in bed and not Fred instead?

Are you sure it's Red in bed and not Fred instead?

Ted Head.

Yeah. He's the head Head.

That's what I said.

Hah?

In bed.

That's what I said.

Not in bed. That's what I said.

Hah?

Red's in bed.

That's what I said.

Hah?

Well, if it's Fred, then Fred's in Red's bed.

Oh. Well, did you check the spread?

Yeah—Where you found Red.

Well, go to the bed where you found Red, look under the spread, and maybe you'll find Fred.

Go the to bed where you found Red, look under the spread, and maybe you'll find Fred.

Okay, you went to the bed?

And you looked under the spread?

Okay, that's great.

Well, you're Ed.

That's right.

There is a pause while Ed goes and looks under the spread.

He comes back to the phone.

On the bed?

Well, I checked the bed, but not the spread.

Hah?

All right. Hold on.

Hey—hey, I found—I found Fred!

And there was Red.

And there—there was Fred.

Yeah. But now, don't—don't hang up, because I can't—I can't find Ed.

Oh. Then we're all here.

Out of sight! How much do I owe you?

A telephone rings.